Honor Roll of Giving

Since Judson College's founding in 1838, gifts from individuals and organizations have played a crucial role in the development of the College. Throughout the years, the support of alumnae and friends has enabled the College to meet the opportunities of changing times, changing technologies, and an increasingly diverse student body with agility and grace.

The College wishes to express heartfelt thanks to those whose outstanding, consistent support sustains and empowers the College to continue its 181-year-old mission of providing an exceptional, transformational, Christ-centered education for each new generation of Judson women—for the glory of God and the good of the world.

The Honor Roll of Giving acknowledges gifts to the College during the 2018-19 fiscal year (July 1, 2018 through June 30, 2019).

Judson College
2018-19

The Founders' Circle

Judson's founders believed that education for women provided them with the opportunity to discover and develop their God-given intelligence and talents, which resulted in the responsibility to use their awakened minds and hearts to make choices that glorified God and benefited society. The founders chose to name their school The Judson Female Institute after Ann Hasseltine Judson, the first American woman to serve as a foreign missionary, whose life they believed embodied these principles better than any other woman of their time.

Julia T. Barron Society

Contributors with lifetime giving of $1 million and up are designated members of the Julia T. Barron Society.

Julia Tarrant Barron was a wealthy widowed businesswoman at the center of discussions to establish a Baptist school for young women in Marion, Alabama, in the 1830s. Barron provided space in a rented house for the first classes of the Judson Female Institute (which would later become Judson College) in January of 1839, and it is also believed that she gave the land for the first Judson building. Barron was the major contributor to this building fund, with a gift that was used to build the first Jewett Hall in 1839. Though Barron had no daughters who would benefit from the college she supported so ardently, her selfless generosity has influenced the lives of thousands of young women for more than 181 years.

Milo P. Jewett Society

Contributors with lifetime giving of $250,000 - $999,999 are designated members of the Milo P. Jewett Society.

Milo P. Jewett was the first president of the Judson Female Institute, which opened its doors January 7, 1839. Jewett, a recent graduate of Andover Theological Seminary, had moved to Alabama with the goal of establishing a school for young women that would provide them with the same quality of education that young men received at Harvard and Yale. Jewett firmly believed that this new college should be "a place of Christ", so he worked with local Baptists in Marion to establish a school that not only educated women well but also equipped them to glorify God with their lives.

Edwin D. King Society

Contributors with lifetime giving of $100,000 - $249,999 are designated members of the Edwin D. King Society.

General Edwin D. King served as Captain during the War of 1812 and came to Perry County in 1816. As a successful planter, King helped to establish the town of Marion. He was a charter member of Siloam Baptist Church and was an Alabama representative in the 1845 formation of the Southern Baptist Convention. He was a founder of the Marion Female Seminary, Judson College, and Howard College. He served as chairman of the Judson College Board of Trustees for twenty-four years.

James H. DeVotie Society

Contributors with lifetime giving of $50,000 - $99,999 are designated members of the James H. DeVotie Society

James DeVotie was instrumental in connecting Milo P. Jewett to the other Judson founders, after receiving a letter from Julia Barron expressing the interest of a group of Baptists in founding a school for girls in Marion. When Jewett arrived in Alabama in 1838, DeVotie

(who at the time was serving as pastor of First Baptist Church of Tuscaloosa) and Basil Manly (president of The University of Alabama), met with Jewett and Edwin D. King in Tuscaloosa. DeVotie and Manly sent letters of support for Jewett to Julia Barron, and the "founders' circle" was complete. DeVotie later served as pastor of Siloam Baptist Church in Marion from 1840 to 1855.

The Cameo J logo was the identifying symbol of Judson College from 1974 to 1997. Designed by Leslie L. Yarbrough, the logo was first introduced in the winter 1974 edition of the Judson Cameo, a bulletin of Judson College. The classic cameo profile, enclosed by an Old English "J", symbolizes the link between the classic ideal of womanhood and the outstanding achievements of the modern woman.

TRIANGLE ASSOCIATION

Contributors who gave $500 to $999 are designated members of the Triangle Association.

When the original Jewett Hall burned in 1888, its tower bell was destroyed, and Abe McCliney, an African-American janitor and head-waiter known to Judson girls as "Uncle Abe" began summoning Judson students to meals and classes by ringing a large triangle. His ringing became an iconic sound on Judson's campus for the next 36 years. Historian Louise Manly wrote of Abe's playing: "There is no big bell in a cupola to call us up,...but a large triangle is carried around through the long halls and vigorously played by Abe for fifteen minutes, and that wakes us up indeed...His playing on the triangle is in perfect time and so jolly that it almost sets one to dancing." Abe served under eleven Judson presidents from 1852 until his retirement in 1923. In 1924, the Judson student newspaper, now in its 95th year, was first published, taking "The Triangle" as its name. Abe's triangle was saved from the second Jewett fire in 1947 and is still a beloved icon on Judson's campus.
